

FAQ Student Accommodation

At Uppsala Bostadsförmedling, both current and future students can apply for student accommodation. Even international students who do not have a Swedish personal identity number (personnummer) can get their student housing through us. We mediate first hand contracts for student apartments from Uppsalahem and Rikshem, two of Uppsala's largest student landlords.

How does the mediation process work?

Uppsala Bostadsförmedling offers apartments according to a queuing principle, meaning all apartments mediated by us are first offered to the person with the longest queuing time. Your queuing time starts when you register at our website.

If you are first in line for an apartment, make sure you have all the required certificates ready and uploaded to "My pages" on our website. This shortens the mediation process. Certificates required by students can include enrollment verifications and letters of admission. Which certificates the landlord requires is stated in the ad for the apartment.

How do you apply for student accommodation?

To be able to apply for any apartments, including student residences, you need to register at bostad.uppsala.se. The sooner you register, the bigger your chances are of getting an apartment. You can start applying for accommodation when you have completed your registration and we have received your payment of the annual fee of 305 SEK.

What happens to your queuing time when you get a student residence?

As a student, you get to keep your accumulated queuing time when you get a student residence through us. This means that you can search for other types of rental apartments within the Uppsala region both during and after your study period.

Where do you find the available student accommodations?

You find the available student residences under the "Vacant residences" tab on our website. There you can filter and see which student residences are currently available. To make it easier to see when new student housing is published, you can create a subscription. You will then receive an email when new student residences are published on the website.

How long can you stay in a student residence?

You can stay in a student residence throughout your entire study period. After completing your studies you need to seek new accommodation. We have several different types of rental apartments that you can search for with your accumulated queueing time after your studies.

Landlords perform inspections each semester to make sure only students live in student apartments.
